Banquet For Church Players Tonight

A banquet will be held at White Oak YMCA tonight in honor of the winning team in the Church Basketball League of Cone Memorial YMCA. Buffalo Presbyterian Church will be awarded a team trophy and individual awards.

Eller Memorial Baptist Church was the runner-up for the season and will be awarded individual medals.

All men that played in the Church League are invited to attend the banquet. Plates will be $1.00.

Haw River Team Has Very Successful Year

Haw River High School basketball team, coached by Richard "Bud" Phillips, has just completed a most successful conference year. The team won 16 games without a loss in the conference. Their only defeat was by the Elon Jayvee team.

Last year they dropped from the county tournament in order to play in the district play-off for the state championship. They bowed to Welcome in a hard-fought game at Jamestown.

There is only one senior on the team. Philip Ray, a high scoring forward. Of the first five players there are three players scoring over three hundred points. Jerry Bosquet has 466, Sonny Clayton has 377, and Philip Ray has 323. The team has scored 1,963 points to date with an average of over 80 points per game. On five different occasions this year the team has gone over the century mark. In one game they scored 142 points.

As we go to press the Haw River basketball team is playing in the District One playoff to try to earn a place in the state playoffs next week. They have won two games and are to play King High School in the finals for the district championship.

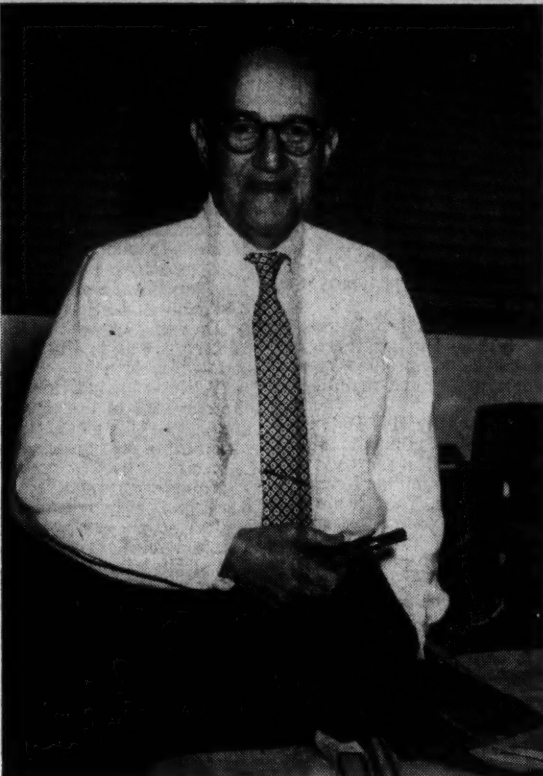

Floyd Leach To Direct Dog Training Class

North Greensboro Kennel Club held a business meeting Tuesday, March 10. Lee Hughes was guest at this meeting.

A film entitled, "Training You to Train Your Dog—Advanced," will be shown Tuesday, March 17. The public is invited to attend this meeting. There will also be a guest speaker.

Plans are being made for the second obedience training class. This class will be under the direction of Floyd B. Leach. All those who are interested in entering their dogs may contact Ray Tugman at the White Oak Y to find out other particulars.

Club members are invited to attend a weiner roast at Camp Herman Saturday, March 14. This is the first club social activity and everyone is urged to be present. All members are to meet at the White Oak Y at 6:30 p.m. and go to Camp Herman from there.

NEW SHIRT—Ben Cone, a director of Cone Mills, wears one of the new Brookweave shirts made of Cone fabric using DuPont's new miracle fibre, Dacron. The shirt, made by Brooks Brothers, may be washed in a normal manner, then hung soaking wet on a hanger to dry. Drying time is about seven hours, and the shirt needs no ironing before wearing. The material is woven at Revolution Division Rayon Plant. Marion W. Helms is vice-president in charge, Horace Kiser, manager.

Cone Mills Announces New Fabric Creation

NEW YORK—One of the latest new developments in blends of natural and man-made fibres was announced by Cone Mills executives in the firm's New York offices last week. After months of exhaustive tests, a Dacron and combed cotton fabric has been developed which, for the first time, makes possible an Oxford shirt that will dry overnight and requires no pressing.

The new fabric is being made up into a white button down model by Brooks Brothers, outstanding clothiers, to retail at $12.50. They are introducing the shirt, called Brookweave, in their Spring catalog and in full page ads in the current TIME Magazine and The NEW YORKER. Newspaper ads in the N. Y. TIMES and HERALD TRIBUNE, and in newspapers in Chicago, Boston, San Francisco and Los Angeles were used the beginning of this week. Advertising theme of the campaign is: "Three Great Names Combine to Produce a Completely Revolutionary and Amazing New Shirting Fabric."

What's Behind the Fabric? Cone Mills made the original suggestion that Dacron and combed cotton might be woven together to combine the best qualities of each. DuPont quickly took Cone up on this and the two companies began a series of experiments in both the Cone and DuPont research laboratories. A great many different blends were woven and tested before they were satisfied that they had achieved the best combination.

At this point, DuPont and Cone Mills invited Brooks Brothers into the picture to make, promote and distribute shirts of the new material. At their suggestion, Cone wove a fabric that would closely parallel the texture and hand of Brooks' regular Oxford shirts. The woven cloth was given over 25 different finishes and each finish was tested thoroughly before the final process was worked out.

According to a hang tag on the Brookweave shirt, hand laundering is advised with mild soap in moderately hot water. The shirt should be thoroughly rinsed and then hung dripping wet on a hanger without squeezing or wringing. Drying time is seven to eight hours and, when dry, it will be wrinkle free and ready to wear. It can be ironed with a normally hot iron, if desired, to freshen it up after constant wearing.

The shirt may also be washed in a washing machine without special precautions. If the washing machine is automatic, it will be necessary to dip the shirt in water after taking from the machine so that it may be hung on a hanger while soaking wet.

SURPRISE—Tom Lauderdale, employee testing, displays the gifts he received at a "stork" shower which greeted him in his office last Friday. Friends in the offices located in Central Office building at Revolution got up the surprise for the expectant father. The Lauderdale's already have two children.

TAKES THE CAKE—Miss Frances Holman, R.N., in charge of Proximity Plant's First Aid Department, first shift, is shown accepting a birthday cake given by employees in honor of the department's first year of operation. The cake and roses were given by various employees in the plant's Weave Room and were presented by Miss Sybil Noah and Mrs. Dot Mabe, shown here.

Paul Brady Shows Army Pictures

Paul Brady, who recently returned from Army service in Korea, was guest speaker for Revolution Community Club Friday, March 6, in the club room.

Mr. Brady showed colored slides of pictures he had taken on the ship both going and returning. He showed many pictures of Army camp life, camouflaged tents, water drums, washing outfit, etc.

Three "extras" for his unit, were two Korean boys (too young for service in their own army) and their pet dog.

Mr. Brady said attaching themselves to the American group was a way for them to have food, clothes and shelter. They did many chores for the boys and made themselves very agreeable.

Mr. Brady had on display many pieces of handwork he had sent his family from Korea, hand embroidered robes, jacket, pajamas, table cloth, bed spread, house slippers, etc. All were made of bright materials with intricate embroidery.

Mrs. Kermit Ritter gave the devotional, having her talk on the 20th chapter of Proverbs, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." We need to be unselfish for happiness and inward peace, she said.

Mrs. Hannibal Moore, president, was in the chair for the business meeting.

Volunteers were asked to assist with the night school banquet to be held on Friday, March 21.

The club will pay the registration fee for a representative from the club to attend the Program Planning School to be held at the Civic Center this month.

Mrs. Shelton Brady is still interested in collecting coupons of all kinds for the benefit of the Christian Church Orphanage.

At the conclusion of the program a salad course was served by Mesdames Ernest Cockman and Roy Strickland.

The Red Cross last year provided $11,500,000 in financial assistance to servicemen, veterans, and their families.

Cone Vocational School Banquets On March 21

Saturday, March 21, is scheduled to be the date of two banquets officially ending the school year for Cone vocational classes. One banquet will be held at the Revolution Apartments and the other at the White Oak branch of the Cone Memorial Y.M.C.A. Tickets for each will be $1.25 and will be available through class members and instructors at the desks of the White Oak and Proximity branches of the Y.

Program committees for both banquets are meeting this week. Both banquets are considered to be community affairs and all Cone employees and their families are invited to participate. Programs will be announced in the next issue of The Textoria.

Employees who have attended classes during the 1952-53 school year should plan to attend the banquet at which their supervisors and superintendent will be present. Credit cards will be presented by the respective superintendents.

Cone vocational classes were revived in 1946, after a lapse of several years during World War II. Since then there have been seven sets of spring banquets. Some years, when the plants were working six days, it has been necessary to hold a luncheon for second shift employees. This year, as in 1952, there will be a banquet for the Revolution employees and one for White Oak, Proximity, and Print Works employees.

Teen Coed Club To Hold Dance Tonight

Proximity Teen Coed Club will sponsor a square dance tonight at 7:30 in the Proximity Y gym. This dance will be held in order for the club to raise money for the Cerebral Palsy Fund.

This is one of the club's service projects, and they hope a large number will attend this dance in order to help out with this worthy cause.

Music will be furnished by members of the club and admission will be 25 cents.

Little Common Ground

The recent events in Russia demand the undivided attention of the entire world.

We doubt that anyone, even in Russia, can at this stage determine whether the death of Stalin means war or peace. The signs are both premature and indefinite. Some have reason to believe that there is now a better chance for peace and understanding. Others have a darker outlook.

It will be some time before our State Department will be in a position to measure the caliber of the new leader in Russia and those who will advise him; in fact, it is entirely possible that the new leader today may be deposed within a short period of time or even eliminated. Russia is famous for her drastic purging programs.

Would that we had the power to foresee the events of the future and offer intelligent information to our readers. This we cannot do, and a guess would be hazardous and without logical foundation.

We do feel, though, that people living in free countries should note the significance of the methods by which leaders are selected in Communist countries. The Communist Party has described the party as the people's party. Such a term is ridiculous in the light of recent happenings as the people certainly had nothing to do with the selection of a new leader in Russia.

For that reason, even though the Russian people might desire peace, there is little chance for such peace just because of their wishes. A few men in Russia can determine whether Russia will engage in a world war or whether they will seek peace; a few men can determine whether peace is possible in Korea.

Unfortunately, this country cannot base its negotiations with Russia on a plane of respect and understanding. Leaders who place so little value upon the lives of their own countrymen as the leaders in Russia do hardly qualify for honorable negotiations. For that reason our leaders must, in representing us, recognize the fact that they will have to be suspicious of every move made by the Communist leaders. There is little common ground for honorable agreements.

The best that could happen, of course, would be the overthrow of the Communist government by the people in Russia. No doubt the Red leaders have prepared for each and every instance which might lead to rebellion.

LISTEN AMERICANS!

... by George S. Benson
President of Harding College

Dr. Harley L. Lutz, professor emeritus of public finance, Princeton University, has just concluded a series of lectures at Harding College under the sponsorship of our new School of American Studies. The theme of his series was "Let's Bring Government Back Home." He made the following points:

The Federal government is too big; the burden of its cost is now a greater load than the economy can carry and remain prosperous; the steady pressure for more power to regulate and control is a growing menace to individual and civil liberty; the increasing concentration of political power and economic control in the Federal government is destroying the economic and governmental environment which is essential to the survival of the American system of a union of states.

"Governmental power," said Dr. Lutz, "depends upon control of finances. The concentration of power in Washington is shown by the growing Federal stranglehold on tax sources. In 1913, the Federal share was 33 per cent out of total tax receipts of $2 billion for all purposes. In 1938, it was 41 per cent out of a total of $14.3 billion. In 1953, it will be 78 per cent out of a total of $90 billion of taxes collected for all purposes. In this 40-year period the Federal share of all taxes paid by the people has risen from 33 per cent to approximately 80 per cent.

Let's take an example. Most of the state legislatures are meeting this month, and most will be finding there isn't enough state tax revenue from gasoline and oil to keep up with the expanding highway construction and maintenance needs.

Dr. Lutz revealed the main reason why this is true. In 1952, the Federal government "granted" the states $471 million for highway purposes. But during the same year the Federal government was taking $808.4 million from the states in Federal gasoline and oil taxes. That means the states lost $330 million in taxes to the Federal government in this field alone. Very few states would have such severe highway financing problems if they could get the Federal government's hands out of the state highway tax till. One governor whom I know calls it "highway robbery!"

The highway tax situation is just one small example of what's happening. When we weigh all the facts, Dr. Lutz' theme, "Let's Bring Government Back Home," makes good sense.

Pythian Echoes

by R. Cole Lee

In one of the offices at Proximity I came across a small sign which invites a SMILE. As I looked at that outstanding greeting I could not help but catch the profound lesson which this messenger of good-will wanted me to receive. A smile is without doubt the greatest producer of right results. In the organization, a smile is like sunshine, stimulating that firm and friendly cooperation so necessary at all times. Smiles multiply right results. Frowns divide right results. It has been found when you pass around your own smile, that friendly look is bound to multiply, not divide. Now the question is, are you a multiplier or a divider.

On March 21 at Durham there will be held by the Zeta Temple at the Shrine Club their annual Ladies' Night dance. Any Dokkie is eligible to attend upon presentation of his 1953 receipt. The hour is 8:30 p.m. Speaking of meetings, let us not forget the Spring Dokkie Ceremonial to be held at Le-noir on March 28 with registration starting at 2:30 p.m. This promises to be an excellent meeting from the start, so don't miss it.

On our sick list has been added the name of Pythian Cordie Beverley, Sr. Our friend Pythian John Walters and the good wife of Pythian Jim Fracheur are still confined to their homes. Here's hoping that at my next sitting I can report them well and out enjoying the first touch of Spring.

Recognized among our attendance last Monday were two Pythians we had not seen for some time—William D. Delancey and Robert V. Brown. Folks, let me give you a tip. If you ever have the opportunity to shake "Big Bill's" hand, for your sake don't do it. His hand reminds me of an elephant's foot. So big and powerful! If he ever gets your hand in his he will surely bring you to your knees begging for mercy. Take this tip and be contented

Thoughts On The Business Of Life

Deliberate with caution, but act with decision; and yield with graciousness, or oppose with firmness.—Charles Hole

Under normal periods, any man's success hinges about 5 per cent on what others do for him and 95 per cent on what he does, with emphasis on the does. The years that lie ahead will be no bed of roses for any business man. No matter how high the tide of prosperity may rise, no business man will share therein who does not gear himself and his business to a new tempo to meet changing conditions and the problems and difficulties that await our solution.—James A. Worsham

Adequate distribution of goods makes, unmakes or remakes all capital values!—Kenneth Goode

The continual tendency toward shorter hours is certainly connected with the modern development of industry, for with the use of power, mechanical devices and quicker methods, the amount of effort to do the world's work is constantly being reduced. This tendency must be beneficial to the human race, for its more leisure time and contributes to the joy of life.—Lamont Du Pont

Sympathy is a thing to be encouraged apart from humane considerations, because it supplies us with the materials for wisdom.—R. L. Stevenson

Do you know what is more hard to bear than the reverses of fortune? It is the baseness, the hideous ingratitude of men.—Napoleon I

What is an individual? Just a bit of life shot off from the one life in the universe—just a bit of love and truth dropped on this globe, just as the globe itself was once a bit of light and heat dropped from the sun.—C. W. Barron

We must believe in a Being, a divine will, or in an intelligent purpose behind the world. And we must live as if the world had sense, not as if the world were meaningless. Cold, cynical people are not only unhappy, but are dead to the spiritual values that make life. Only the positive attitude in acts of kindness and peace will give the joyous life.—Charles R. Brown, D.D.

All worthwhile men have good thoughts, good ideas and good intentions—but precious few of them ever translate those into action.—John Hancock Field upon greeting him by a friendly slap on the back. "Big Bill" is a swell fellow and a mighty fine person to know. We were happy also to have Pythian T. M. Davis, who expressed sincere appreciation for the flowers the Lodge sent while he was at the hospital. Although he still carries his arm in a cast we are pleased to report that this "deep base voice" Pythian is coming along nicely.

When a man has not a good reason for doing a thing, he has one good reason for letting it alone.—Scott (Permission Forbes Magazine)

RED BARREL—Lee Butler, employed on the first shift in the Beaming and Slashing Department at White Oak Plant, points to one of the red barrels near an entrance to the plant. The barrel bears a sign asking the employee to drop his unsafe habits in the barrel before he enters the plant. This idea won a prize for J. D. Paschal, Spinning Department employee who submitted it to the recent safety suggestion contest. A photo of Mr. Paschal with his prize, a set of Cone towels, has already appeared in The Textorian.

TO BE AT ST. PAUL'S—The Eppeley Sisters Gospel Quintette of York, Pa., shown above, will appear at St. Paul's Methodist Church on March 15 at the 11 o'clock service. They have appeared in churches of 41 different denominations for the past nine years. Their recent concert tours have included leading churches and radio stations in the United States and Canada. The public is cordially invited, states Rev. J. H. Trolinger, pastor.

Joe thinks it fun to stoop and swing a bowling ball, and watch it go. But Joe will gripe like anything when asked to stoop and swing some snow!
